HILLSTROM DIES; SPRY OPENS WAR ON I. W. W.

"Lawlessness in Utah Must Cease," Declares Governor as Convicted Double Murderer Is Shot to Death by State

Opiate Deadens Criminal to Fate After Fierce Battle in Cell as Death Parade Begins; Protests Innocence to Last

"Fire!" He Yells as Straps Are Buckled; Executioners Calmly Await Command, "Ready, Aim, Fire!" From Prison Officials

By International News Service
SALT LAKE, November 19.—With Joseph Hillstrom, alleged I. W. W. leader and convicted murderer, lying dead with four bullets in his heart—the penalty of the State of Utah for his double crime—Governor William Spry to-day declared war to the end on all members of the I. W. W. and other allegedly lawless elements in Salt Lake City and the State of Utah.

In no time distinction on the part of Governor followed the legal execution of the I. W. W. poet, convicted of the slaying of J. G. Morrison and the latter's son.

Just a few minutes after sunrise Hillstrom was led from his cell to the death chair. Maintaining his bravado almost to the last, he became frenzied as the sheriff and his deputies appeared at his cell door to lead him to the doom.

FIGHTS LIKE BEAST AT LAST MINUTE

Seizing a mattock, he made an ineffectual attempt to barricade the door of his cell. As this was thrown aside, Hillstrom sprang like a wild beast at the sheriff.

He was overpowered. The prison physician was summoned, and Hillstrom was given an opiate.

Under the soothing influence of the drug, for double shots—walked almost calmly to the chair.

Strapped in, he was asked if he had anything to say. Hillstrom declared:

Gentlemen: I die with a clear conscience. I conduct did anything wrong in my life. I die fighting. I don't like a case at all. Well, I'm going—good-by. I'm going home.

Then, with the noose 1 encircling his neck, the word to fire the fatal volley, Hillstrom yelled:

"Fire!"

TELEGRAM TELLS OF ALLEGED ALIBI

But the riflemen mailed the "ready —aim—fire" and before the execution news a telegram signed by Hillstrom's wife at Seattle, in which the sworn statement was made that Bunky had an absolute proof of the innocence of Hillstrom.

Bunky declared that he was in the company of Hillstrom at the time Hillstrom is alleged to have slain Morrison and Morrison's son.

The telegram is regarded by Governor Spry and by members of the board of pardons as a last desperate effort to prevent the execution.

Immediately after the execution, Governor Spry issued the following statement to-day:

WAR TO DEATH ON I. W. W., SAYS SPRY

The fight has just begun. We are not going to stop until the I. W. W. is entirely rid of this lawless element that now infests it. Every law-breaker, every man who defies law and order, every man who is opposed to law and order—call themselves what they will—will be driven out of the State.

I am going to see that the work is started at once and to work in such a manner that this end shall take the matter up with the peace officers. I will also inform the city officials of Salt Lake that it is their duty to

Artist Martinez Pays Tailor in Pictures; Row

Brush Wielder Wants Half of What Man of Shears Got for Painting.

Between James B. Hahn, Oakland tailor, and Xavier Martinez, painter, there has arisen a controversy anent the ownership of the famous artist's pictures.

Recently one of the Martinez pictures in the Park Museum exhibit was sold to a Seattle man for $150. Hahn has the money, claiming he owned the picture. Martinez asserts that he had a half interest in the picture.

It appears that after the fire, when funds were hard for artists, Martinez needed clothes. He arranged with Hahn to give him a picture in payment for a suit.

Later, as Martinez claims, he made a verbal agreement with Hahn that the tailor was to pay the artist $50 a month and receive in return a certain number of pictures. Hahn might sell these pictures, but if he did so he was to pay over half the purchase price to Martinez.

Hahn repudiates this agreement. He declares that

"Martinez is not entitled to 1 cent of the purchase price of the painting Hahn has. For nine years I have virtually taken care of him. I kept him in clothes and funds and paid for his home."

This was denied by both Martinez and his wife, who is the daughter of Herman Whitaker, the novelist. Martinez already has consulted an attorney.

BABY'S DOOM INDORSED BY MEDICAL JURY

Physician Who Let Child Die Did Right, Declare Six Eminent Doctors in Chicago

Operation Matter of Conscience, but Action Should Not Be Taken Without Consultation

Autopsy Shows No Evidence That Child Would Have Been Mentally or Morally Wrong

By International News Service
CHICAGO, November 19.—A jury of Chicago physicians decided to-night that society has the right to refuse life to a baby hopelessly defective.

Dr. Henry J. Haiselden was exonerated from blame for deliberately permitting the death of baby Bole three days after deciding that the child was doomed to a life of hopeless infirmity of misery and unconscious.

Yet, while completely exonerating the physician, the jury did not agree with him in this specific Bollinger case, holding that the Bollinger baby was not sufficiently defective to justify condemnation to death.

SHOULD BE CONSULTATION.

The right of society to forbid the gift of a defective baby, although recognized by the jury, carries with it a recommendation for great care in its exercise. The right should not be exercised hereafter, it is recommended, on the basis of one physician's judgment. There should be a consultation of physicians. The six, the jurymen have reported to the officials of the Automobile Commissioner for speeding.

A hearing in the case will be held to-morrow before Justice of the Peace W. A. Sawyer, Howard county. A speed of nearly sixty miles an hour is alleged.

COULD HAVE SAVED LIFE.

1—We believe that a prompt operation would have prolonged and saved the life of the child.

2—We find no evidence from the physical defects that the child would have been mentally or morally defective.

3—Several of the physical defects could be greatly improved by plastic operations.

4—We believe that morally and mentally a surgeon is fully within his rights in refusing to perform an operation which his conscience will not sanction. We find no reason to believe that the parents of Allen Bollinger were deprived of the privilege of consultation.

5—We recommend strongly that in all decisions of this character where a consultation of two or more surgeons of known reputation for skill, clinical standing and broad experience should decide upon the advisability or inadvisability of operating measures. We believe that the physician's duty is to relieve suffering and to save or prolong life.

WITHIN LAW'S PROVINCE.

City attorneys during the morning hours had gone through the statute books carefully and were convinced that Dr. Haiselden was entirely within the province of the law.

The burden of responsibility in the case, it was declared, has been placed directly upon the shoulders

LONDON, November 20.—A Greek authority in London says Greece is not waiting. In perhaps a few days the Allies will land a force of 100,000 Hellenic troops at Salonika. They have reason to despise the lord judgment of recent events at Athens.

A conference which was held today at Salonika between Kiri Kiklides, British Secretary of War, and Generali Sorrail, is expected to clear the greatly confused Balkan situation.

The meeting occurred on the ship which brought Kiriakides from Salonika from Tripoli. Immediately afterward Earl Kitchener sailed without disembarking. He is to meet King Constantine at Athens on Sunday.

M. Crabin, French Cabinet Minister, had an hour's conference yesterday morning with King Constantine.

FIRST STAGE OF SERBIAN INVASION NOW COMPLETED

By International News Service
LONDON, November 19.—The capture by the Bulgarians of Monastir, Serbia, on November 17, is declared last night to the "International News Service" from Salonika through London, completes the first stage of the invasion of Serbia.

At Monastir and Prilep, 32 miles to the northeast, the Bulgarians are said to have 75,000 men, and in this region at least the attention of the Serbians is being directed. Serbian army is almost hopeless.

Fighting between the French and the Bulgars continues. A profound reverse for the Bulgarians here would relieve instantly the pressure on the Serbs and large reinforcements which, according to some reports, have already been landed at Salonika, would clear the whole of south Serbia in short order, but this is only a remote possibility.

The French are redoubling their efforts to take Veles.

The Sloat Cafe, Ocean and Sloat boulevards, was held up at 1 o'clock this morning by five masked men, who escaped in a jitney bus with several hundred dollars in loot.

Two of the men stood guard outside while three entered the bar and made Archibald Lawes, the bartender, open up the cash register. They took about $100 from the register and then marched Lawes about of them into the dancing room.

SECRETARY WILSON ORDERS SWEEPING ALIEN INVESTIGATION

John B. Densmore, Assistant to U. S. Secretary of Labor, Is Here to Take Personal Charge of Greatest Probe of Conditions That Has Ever Been Started on Coast.

Department of Justice Also Takes Hand in the Matter; Four Secret Service Men Are Getting Evidence, Especially Into Smuggling of Chinese on the Mongolia.

GOVERNMENT authority of the highest degree is to be exercised in the most searching investigation of the immigration service ever instituted on the Pacific coast. The inquiry authorized by Secretary of Commerce and Labor Wilson is the result of the expose of the Mongolia Chinese smuggling conspiracy.

The Secret Service of the United States has been placed at the command of Assistant Secretary of Labor John B. Densmore, who yesterday assumed personal control of the inquiry into the many serious charges that have been preferred against the immigration department in California.

Secret service operatives and a man who is described by Densmore as the most "expert investigator in the Department of Labor" are now on their way to this city from Washington under instructions to report to Densmore.

WILL FIX THE RESPONSIBILITY.

Densmore, who rendered arrival in San Francisco was made known exclusively in "The Examiner" yesterday, said last night:

I am here to conduct an investigation into the immigration service difficulties and fix responsibility for the same. The smuggling of Chinese is the principal subject under investigation, and I can not but believe that some one has been getting money. I shall assume full charge of the inquiry. Commissioner General of Immigration Caminetti is going East in a day or so. James F. Hughes, assistant commissioner of immigration at Philadelphia and an able investigator, is returning from Idaho to San Francisco to assist me.

My mission to California is to discover what is wrong with the immigration service at Angel island and to fix the blame upon the heads of those responsible for the wholesale smuggling of Chinese into this port. Heads will roll and low in the immigration division may be struck in this inquiry, but that is a matter which should concern nobody but those implicated in the scandal.

The Department of Labor is determined to probe this smuggling scandal to the very bottom, and it has been instructed to push the investigation.

CANNOT NAME THE INVESTIGATOR.

I cannot divulge the name of the investigator assigned to assist me because I may have work for him to do upon his arrival, which could be done much more effectively if his identity were unknown.

While here I shall make a thorough investigation of all the charges preferred against immigration officials —and they are many—and I shall seek to determine the extent of the graft and those who are responsible for this smuggling affair.

Densmore, recognized as the most efficient attorney in the Department of Labor, having conducted the most vital part of the McNamara investigation, the settlement of the bloody teamsters' strike at Indianapolis, Indiana, and many of the most sensational governmental scandals of the past decade, was instructed by Secretary of Labor Wilson to stay in the West and probe the Mongolia affair. His original mission to the West was to investigate and readjust the so-called "Canadian agreement" relative to the admittance and transportation of Asiatics in Canada.

COMMON GOSSIP FOR MONTHS.

For years the immigration department here has been an object of charges of irregularities. Since the Geary Chinese exclusion act went into effect there have been scandals innumerable.

The disclosure of the Mongolia smuggling conspiracy followed charges and insinuations that had been common gossip in Federal circles for months.

In the days when enforcement of the Geary act was being first attempted the ousting or disgracing of an immigration official of San Francisco was news of a common occurrence.

Densmore yesterday conferred at Angel Island with Edward White, commissioner of immigration at this port. He informed White that the Department of Justice, exercising a rare prerogative, had joined hands with the Department of Labor in

WILSON AND CLARK TALK ON DEFENSE

Speaker, After Talk With President, Says He'll Aid "Reasonable" Preparedness Plans

Secretary Daniels Asks Mare Island Cost of Equipment for Building of Dreadnought

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, November 19.—President Wilson and Speaker Champ Clark held an important conference at the White House late to-day on the President's preparedness program, following which it was said the Speaker assured the President of his support, declaring in favor of a "reasonable preparedness."

After the conference Speaker Clark stated that he could not yet say whether he thought the President's plans were reasonable, as he had not been acquainted with details.

The belief that the Speaker will support the President's plans in behalf of the programme was strengthened by his admission that he intends to leave the chair during the coming session and speak in favor of the preparedness measure whenever occasion demands.

NO FIGHT ON KITCHIN.

Whether a fight on Kitchin will be born a fight will be made to oust Representative Claude Kitchin from the post of majority leader because of announced opposition to the administration's preparedness plan will continue in the unusual situation brought about by Kitchin's appointment as chairman of the all-powerful Ways and Means Committee.

It was announced to the White House, the Speaker declared that in his opinion one or perhaps two of the battleships, whose construction measures for additional defense assay to put into practice the preparedness programme, would be followed. The possibilities mentioned in this connection are the battleship of the Senate tax schedule, a retention of the duty on sugar, a re-enactment of the war revenue measure of 1898 and the sale of Panama canal bonds.

The bill that the Speaker intends to draw up will provide means to provide for doubling the number of West Point and Annapolis cadets annually for the next three years, and the number of Reserves. There will be only two of battleships, as the Senate bill. He his bill will provide also for the admission to the army and navy of graduates of the military colleges who can meet all requirements as to education, physique and morale. Provision will be made also for paying for the actual expense of their training in the Government institutions.

PHELAN REACHES CAPITAL.

Another strong advocate of National defense, Senator James D. Phelan of California, came to Washington to-day and declared that it will be unit to put this country in a condition of preparedness against war. He said:

"The people of the Pacific Coast are a unit for increased national defense. We have a long line of major ships on both the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. We cannot count on the Panama Canal to make up for the smallness of our fleet, for the canal is liable to damage the canal betwee repair.

"For one, I know there is with us the people of the Pacific Coast. At present Japanese peril. We have in California to-day 70,000 Japanese war veterans. In the event of trouble this number of aliens could be used to create a large number of our own regular army and that coast would temporarily be cut off from the rest of the nation.

U. S. YARDS MAY GET WORK.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels to-day took steps which indicated that the new battleships will be constructed partiotism by Congress built in Government navy yards. He telegraphed to the commandants of the Mare Island and Philadelphia yards, asking them to inform him at once just what the cost will be to install equipment necessary for building the battleships.

Admiral Capps, chief of staff, who was called on by Secretary Daniels to discuss the Mare Island facilities, said:

"We will have to build a Mare Island slip with foundations as heavy enough to support the largest ships that may be built in the future when buildings. The Mare Island yard is already demonstrated its efficiency in the way it recently overhauled the Jupiter, were built there each of about 14,000 tons displacement. There is no doubt that the yard could be gotten ready for any emergency."

STIRRING DEFENSE PLEA BY JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES

NEW ORLEANS, November 19.—Before the Chamber of Commerce, the great body of the Chamber of Commerce, here to-night, and interested as a representative and officer of the Navy League and in a representative of the Hearst newspapers, John Temple Graves received a tremendous ovation when he announced the Navy League aim and advocated national defense.

At the conclusion Chief Justice Breaux of the Supreme Court of Louisiana, seconded by Major Lyon Building of the Interstate Trust Building Company, offered these resolutions, which were adopted with only one dissenting voice:

"Resolved, that the President has announced that he will recommend to Congress adequate appropriations for the speedy, quick and effectively increase the United States navy;

"Resolved, we have assembled to-night in meeting to Americans and Louisianians to express our views, opinions, beliefs and convictions concerning the preparedness which the President's mind is about to so make;

"Whereas, an understanding and agreement exists that all party heads store, beyond chance of controversy, the paramount and overwhelming necessity of a navy sufficient strength to stop, arrest, guns, [illegible] and [illegible] demonstrate promptly and absolutely and at all times and to all peoples of the world that the Union is and shall forever remain unconquerable;

"Resolved, that we extend and cement the ties between America and the other nations of the world by avoiding foreign quarrels and aggression and to perpetuate our national peace and honor by making us to be prepared to the fullest extent and to the highest degree for defensive war.

"Whereupon the motley history of the past has shown that the rich, weak nation has invariably been the prey of the strong, and that peace is usually
